The Legacy of Donation: An Engagement Opportunity

Immediately following tonight’s service, there will be an engagement session in the Northrop Atrium.

There will be researchers, educators, and health science students stationed in marked locations available to discuss the medical advancements and training made possible through the gift of whole body donation. The researchers, educators, and students can also be identified by their nametags. Please feel free to introduce yourselves to one of our volunteers and learn more about the legacy of donation.

The Anatomy Bequest Program staff will also be available at a table located in the Northrop Atrium.
